The Process of Glucuronidation

1. Glucarate covers cell.
2. Toxins attack cells.
3. Through glucuronidation harmful substances are removed from the cells, made water soluble, and eliminated from the body.
4. A harmful enzyme often reverses glucuronidation, releasing toxins back into the body.
5. Glucarate from cell bonds with the enzyme, preventing its harmful actions.

+ The Difference is in the Delivery

A liposome is a tiny fat bubble. This bubble is made up of layers of phospholipids similar in makeup to our cell membranes. This creates a pouch in which ingredients can be carried, protected and delivered to target tissues in the body. Liposome Technology is a rapidly expanding area of state of the art pharmacology. It is widely recognized as the optimal delivery system of necessary treatments. However, this method is still under utilized in the natural health arena. O-Tropin harnesses the revolutionary nature and effectiveness of this technology.

Orenda

ULTIMATE EAZE

Orenda Eaze is a comprehensive blend of 31 digestive enzymes, prebiotics, and probiotics combined into an effective and convenient form. Taken with meals, Orenda Eaze supports healthy digestion and helps your body to combat occasional digestive discomfort.*

+ Orenda Systemic

Orenda Systemic is an enteric coated strain of Serrapeptase. The enzyme Serrapeptase is “systemic” because it is absorbed through the small intestine into the blood stream where it helps promote healthy circulation and cleansing.* Stomach acid can degrade the enzyme and make it less effective, but Orenda solves that problem by enterically coating our Serrapeptase so that it is protected from stomach acids to stay effective throughout digestion.* This chart shows the difference that Orenda Systemic’s enteric coating makes.

+ The Aronia Berry

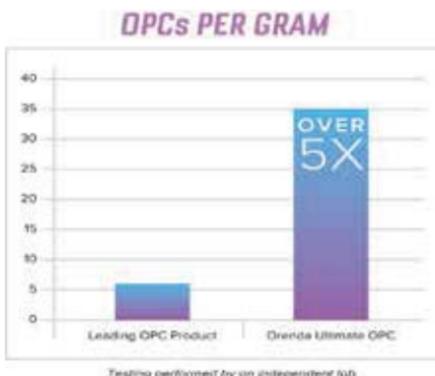

The Aronia berry is native to North America. For years, this native berry had been overlooked because of its strong astringent flavor, a flavor that can be attributed to an enormous amount of antioxidant phytochemicals, most notably oligomeric proanthocyanidins, or OPCs.

Orenda

ULTIMATE OPC

Oligomeric proanthocyanidins (OPCs) are some of the most powerful polyphenolic substances in the plant kingdom. The OPCs in Orenda Ultimate OPC combine the remarkable qualities of the aronia berry with a host of other best-in-class antioxidant ingredients. Due to their potent antioxidant activity, OPCs have been the subject of recent research demonstrating their noteworthy health properties.

+ #1 in OPCs

Orenda Ultimate OPC is the market leader in OPCs. This powerhouse blend of aronia, pine bark, raspberry and grape seed extracts blow away the competition.
